About the Month of Nissan

Nissan, the first month on Jewish calendar (according to the Torah), coincides with March-April on the civil calendar. The Torah calls it chodesh ha-aviv—the month of spring, as it marks the beginning of the spring months. It is in this month that we celebrate the eight-day holiday of Passover, from the 15th through the 22nd of Nissan. It commemorates the Jewish people's miraculous redemption from slavery in Egypt, and the birth of the Jewish nation.

From the Rabbi

Musing about Family

Last weekend I experienced two very special events: a family reunion in Philadelphia on Saturday night and the Sons of Zion Purim Play on Sunday afternoon. These diverse events, packed into slightly more than a 24-hour period, have got me thinking about family and connections, and I'd like to share some musings with you in this article.

The Saturday night reunion with my biological family in Philadelphia coincided with my oldest brother's 80th birthday. It was a great opportunity to get together with siblings, with the generation of our kids, and with the next generation of great-nieces and great-nephews, some of whom I was meeting for the first time. Families, even when we don't see one another very often, share a common history that enables us to reconnect and find our place in the world. And even when we meet new arrivals to the mishpacha, they automatically become "family/familiar."

My brother put together a show of old family pictures and videos that included my siblings and me at different ages. It also highlighted past family gatherings with pictures of our parents, grandparents, other relatives and family friends, all of whom are now deceased. Counting both the living and dead, five generations were "present." Poet Laura Gilpin wrote:

"These things I know:

How the living go on living

And how the dead go on living with them..."

I was feeling and experiencing the presence of both the living and the dead.

The reunion was a poignant reminder of the passage of time, of how one generation moves on to the next, of the power of family ties, of mortality and immortality. One of the videos my brother showed at his 80th birthday on Sunday was of a similar celebration of our father's 80th birthday thirty-five years ago. In that video, we were the age of our kids who were watching it with us today. And now we have become the age of our parents, the people people we used to think about as being old. Time became blurred: I was both young child and older parent, all in the same intense moment.

The Purim Play the following afternoon at Sons of Zion was tremendous, unmitigated fun. While very different from the family reunion/birthday celebration I had just experienced the previous night, the shared laughter, the comfortable atmosphere, the being together with friendly people we maybe hadn't seen in a while, felt a lot like... family.

The juxtaposition of these two events this weekend reminded me that family does not have to be biological only. When our biological families may be distant, we can find that feeling of connection right here with our extended family at the synagogue. It's where we can be accepted for who we are. At SOZ we can express silliness on Purim, seriousness on Yom Kippur, and the spiritual aspects of ourselves and our souls in the melodies and sublime joy of Shabbat.

I thought I was going to experience only one family reunion last weekend in Philadelphia; now I realize that the SOZ Purim Play enabled me to take part in two joyful family reunions in the same weekend.

Looking ahead, later this month we have perhaps the most family-oriented Jewish holiday of the year: Passover. Passover is the longest-running Jewish family reunion commemorating both our birth as a people free from the oppression of physical and spiritual slavery, and the springtime rebirth of nature. Please know that your extended family at SOZ is here to celebrate with you. "Seder Together" is SOZ's way to match everyone who would like to host a guest or guests at their seder with everyone who would like to be a guest at a seder. See the details elsewhere in this newsletter.

Warm wishes to you and the entire SOZ family for a wonderful, liberating Pesach,

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter

From the President

As you read this, fun filled Adar I and II is coming to an end and Nissan is quickly approaching. Our Congregation Sons of Zion family is about to begin the fifth year of celebrating Pesach together. I hope you remember that we call it SEDER TOGETHER !!! It means that we do our very best to ensure that every member of our extended congregation family enjoys the welcome and warmth of participating in a Passover seder, or two.

A refresher....If you are hosting a seder and have room for even one more guest at your table, please contact the office and leave a message that you want to SEDER

TOGETHER. If you find yourself wanting to participate in a seder, but not as a host (perhaps you're petrified by the prospect), contact the office and leave a message.

Our goal is to match hosts and guests and be sure that everyone celebrates SEDER TOGETHER!! Now in our fifth year, it is one of the nicest gifts our Sons of Zion family can offer to each other.

Also in the spirit of Pesach, please remember to help Rachel's Table by bringing some chametz to SOZ before April 12 and it will be distributed throughout our Valley. Let's make this new project a success.

Speaking of chametz, how about going traditional. For the second year, Dave Carmen has answered the call and made arrangements to sell your chametz. In the Newsletter you will find a contract to fill out and bring or send to the office by noon on April 18th and Dave will take care of it. Toda Rabba, many thanks Dave!!

Check the Newsletter for several exciting events leading up to Passover. The Film Festival's extraordinary films continue 'til April 8!! Don't miss "Jewish History in the Caribbean" at the Holyoke Public Library on April 9, 6pm!! Bake challah on April 12, the chametz doesn't get better than that!! April 13, Shabbat HaGadol, the Great Shabbat before the first seder will be a Renewal Service this year. People are practicing to make it the best that it can be!!

We will celebrate the conclusion of Passover with a special event as well. Sunday, April 28, 2:00pm be sure to be at SOZ for Lecture Series III, "The Longest Hatred", anti semitism from Dr. Simon Sibelman's perspective. Simon does not disappoint. Each of his lectures this year has been outstanding. A challenging and exhilarating way to return to life without matzah!!!

I cannot close this message without returning to Purim for just a moment. What a remarkable family we are. A very special Yasher Koach to Richard Freyman, Deb Levine, the entire cast and crew, the hamantaschen bakers, the nearly 100 people who attended and laughed and laughed.

Refresh your memory or watch for the first time by going to You Tube.com. There is a link and further instructions somewhere in the Newsletter. Enjoy!!!

Warm and wonderful Passover wishes to everyone. SEDER TOGETHER !!!!

The Origins of the Anti- Semitic Stereotype by Dr. Simon Sibelman

In her most recent book, Deborah Lipstadt, explores the long, troubling, and often tragic history of anti-Semitism. Hers is merely another in a lengthy list of titles by various authors and scholars who have traced this irrational hatred of the Jew, a potent emotion accompanied by a unambiguous stereotypical image. This lecture will investigate the origins of that image, then determine how and why it emerged, and how it and the hatred to which it is attached have evolved over two millennia. The lecture will be illustrated and copies of some of the textual passages that will be discussed will be available for attendees.

LECTURE WILL BE FOLLOWED BY A TEA TIME AND LIGHT REFRESHMENTS.

Puerto Rico: An Oral History
By Barbara Tasch Ezratty

Lic. Harry A. Ezratty used his passion to write The New World Trilogy: 500 Years in the Jewish Caribbean, They Led the Way: The Creators of Jewish America, and The Builders: Jews and the Growth of America. His retirement is filled with teaching Jewish history at the Community College of Baltimore County and lecturing at universities, synagogues, and other venues, when he is not working on his newest book.

Editor/publisher, Barbara Tasch Ezratty, started working on Puerto Rico: An Oral History 1898 - 2008 because she wanted to learn why, how, and when from original sources. Her novel covering American history is a work-in-progress that offers explanations for the same questions.

Article from The Ledger

For the second year in a row, under the brilliant creation and direction of Richard Freyman and Deborah Levine, the Sons of Zion Theatre Company packed a full house with their original script of "Purim, the Newsical". The Director's note in the Playbill described the production as a modern TV broadcast telling the story of Esther. In this hilarious Schpiel, there was plenty of nonsense as the audience was guided "back and forth several thousand years in technological sophistication without blinking an eye." The play opened as news anchors Barbara Falters and Dan Rather-not report on the latest in Shushan with interviews with Haman, King Ahashverosh and others. We meet Queen Vashti and Queen Esther and the play took off from there. Included were even interviews from reporters (SOZ actors) on location from "across the pond" in Manchester, England, the Caribbean, China, and France. Once the play came to its foregone conclusion, everyone was treated to a variety of freshly baked hamentaschen. The production was recorded and has been uploaded to YouTube, for those who couldn't make it or want to see it again.

Go to YouTube.com and type in "Purim 2019 clip" and enjoy!

I'M GOING TO LIKE IT HERE

I'm going to like it here,
There is something about the place,
An encouraging atmosphere,
Like a smile on a friendly face.

There is something about the place,
So caressing and warm it is.
Like a smile on a friendly face,
Like a port in a storm it is.

So caressing and warm it is.
All the people are so sincere.
Like a port in a storm it is.
I am going to like here.

All the people are so sincere,
There's especially one I like.
I am going to like here,
It's the father's first son I like.

There's especially one I like.
There is something about his face,
It's the father's first son I like,
He's the reason I love the place.

There is something about his face.
I would follow him anywhere.
If he goes to another place,
I am going to like it there.
